

This information serves as a guide for the selection of courses at the College of DuPage for students transferring to select Big Ten Universities with a major in Economics. It is assumed that students will be working with a full time member of the Economics and/or Counseling faculty in selecting their courses. Students are responsible for contacting the transfer university to verify requirements and transfer of courses.

This guide considered only courses relevant to transferring with a major in Economics. This guide does not consider other courses that might be required at the transfer institution. The information was obtained from the web site of the universities for the academic year 2012-2013.

Students are strongly encouraged to review the home page for the Department of Economics from several public and private institutions. Resources on these sites include information on undergraduate careers in Economics and FAQ (frequently asked questions).

Transfer information is provided for the following Big Ten universities:

Indiana University

Michigan State University

Purdue University

University of Iowa

University of Michigan

University of Wisconsin

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Department of Economics 100 S. Woodlawn, Wylie Hall Rm 105
Bloomington, IN 47405 TEL: (812) 855-1021 econdept@indiana.edu

<http://www.indiana.edu/~econweb/> Department of Economics home page

http://www.indiana.edu/~econweb/ug_index.html Department of Economics
undergraduate studies home page

Contact undergraduate program for recommended/required courses for Economics majors.

Students planning to pursue an advanced degree in Economics are encouraged to seek advisement from a full time member of the Economics faculty in selecting mathematics courses

This information serves as a guide for the selection of courses at COD for a student transferring with a major in Economics to a four-year college or university. Students are responsible for contacting the transfer institution to verify requirements and transfer of courses. Students are encouraged to work with a full time member of the Economics and/or Counseling faculty in planning their selection of courses at the College of DuPage.

Additional Resources:

<http://www.aeaweb.org/students/index.php>

American Economics Association's Economics for College Students

<http://www.bls.gov/ooh/life-physical-and-social-science/economists.htm>

Occupational Handbook for Economists from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics

Check out the home page of the Department of Economics at several four-year institutions. These sites provide valuable information for Economics majors, regardless of the transfer institution. Among the information provided on many of these sites are career resources in the field of Economics.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

East Lansing, Michigan Department of Economics TEL: (517) 355-7583
advising@econ.msu.edu

<http://www.econ.msu.edu/> Department of Economics home page

<http://www.econ.msu.edu/undergraduate/index.php> Department of Economics
undergraduate studies home page

Michigan State University

College of DuPage

EC 201: Introduction to Microeconomics

ECONO 2201: Macroeconomics and
the Global Economy

EC 202: Introduction to Microeconomics

ECONO 2202: Microeconomics and
the Global Economy

Calculus is prerequisite for upper division Economics courses. Check with undergraduate studies for precise calculus requirements to be taken at the freshman/sophomore level as well as statistics course.

Students planning to pursue an advanced degree in Economics are encouraged to seek advisement from a full time member of the Economics faculty in selecting mathematics courses

This information serves as a guide for the selection of courses at COD for a student transferring with a major in Economics to a four-year college or university. Students are responsible for contacting the transfer institution to verify requirements and transfer of courses. Students are encouraged to work with a full time member of the Economics and/or Counseling faculty in planning their selection of courses at the College of DuPage.

(OVER)

Additional Resources:

<http://www.aeaweb.org/students/index.php>

American Economics Association's Economics for College Students

<http://www.bls.gov/ooh/life-physical-and-social-science/economists.htm>

Occupational Handbook for Economists from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics

Check out the home page of the Department of Economics at several four-year institutions. These sites provide valuable information for Economics majors, regardless of the transfer institution. Among the information provided on many of these sites are career resources in the field of Economics.

PURDUE UNIVERSITY

Economics Department Krannert Building 403 W. State Street
West LaFayette, Indiana 47907
TEL: Advising (765) 494-4343 Department (765) 496-2008

<http://www.krannert.purdue.edu/academics/economics/home.asp> Department of Economics home page

<http://www.krannert.purdue.edu/academics/economics/program-up/home.asp>
Department of Economics undergraduate studies home page

<http://www.cla.purdue.edu/academics/programs/pos/ECON2012101.pdf>
Course requirements

Purdue University

College of DuPage

Bachelor of Science

ECON 25100: Microeconomics

ECONO 2202: Microeconomics
and the Global Economy

ECON 25200: Macroeconomics

ECONO 2201: Macroeconomics
and the Global Economy

MA 159: Precalculus

MA 223/224 or MA 165/166
Analytical Geometry I, II

MATH 2231/2232: Calculus
and Analytical Geometry I, II

Bachelor of Arts

ECON 25100: Microeconomics

ECONO 2202: Microeconomics
and the Global Economy

ECON 25200: Macroeconomics

ECONO 2201: Macroeconomics
and the Global Economy

MA153/154/220

MATH 2231/2232/2233: Calculus
and Analytical Geometry I,II, III

(OVER)

Both the B.S. and B.A. require statistics. Check with department whether MATH 1635: Statistics is accepted. Both degrees also require CS 235: Introduction to Organizational computing. Check with department whether we have equivalent course

Students planning to pursue an advanced degree in Economics are encouraged to seek advisement from a full time member of the Economics faculty in selecting mathematics courses.

This information serves as a guide for the selection of courses at COD for a student transferring with a major in Economics to a four-year college or university. Students are responsible for contacting the transfer institution to verify requirements and transfer of courses. Students are encouraged to work with a full time member of the Economics and/or Counseling faculty in planning their selection of courses at the College of DuPage.

Additional Resources:

<http://www.aeaweb.org/students/index.php>

American Economics Association's Economics for College Students

<http://www.bls.gov/ooh/life-physical-and-social-science/economists.htm>

Occupational Handbook for Economists from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics

Check out the home page of the Department of Economics at several four-year institutions. These sites provide valuable information for Economics majors, regardless of the transfer institution. Among the information provided on many of these sites are career resources in the field of Economics.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Iowa City, Iowa Department of Economics TEL: (319)-335-0829

economics@uiowa.edu

<http://tippie.uiowa.edu/economics/> Department of Economics home page

<http://tippie.uiowa.edu/economics/undergraduate.cfm> Department of Economics home page for undergraduate studies

University of Iowa

Bachelor of Arts

ECON 1100: Principles of Microeconomics

ECON 1200: Principles of Macroeconomics

M 017: Calculus and Matrix Algebra for Business

S 008: Statistics for Business

Bachelor of Science

ECON 1100: Principles of Microeconomics

ECON 1200: Principles of Macroeconomics

M 025: Calculus I

M 026: Calculus II

S 120: Probability and Statistics

College of DuPage

ECONO 2202: Microeconomics and the Global Economy

ECONO 2201: Macroeconomics and the Global Economy

MATH 1234: Calculus for Business & Social Science

Check whether MATH 1635: Statistics accepted as equivalent

ECONO 2202: Microeconomics and the Global Economy

ECONO 2201: Macroeconomics and the Global Economy

MATH 2231: Calculus and Analytical Geometry I

MATH 2232: Calculus and Analytical Geometry II

Check whether MATH 1635: Statistics accepted for equivalent (OVER)

Students planning to pursue an advanced degree in Economics are encouraged to seek advisement from a full time member of the Economics faculty in selecting mathematics courses

This information serves as a guide for the selection of courses at COD for a student transferring with a major in Economics to a four-year college or university. Students are responsible for contacting the transfer institution to verify requirements and transfer of courses. Students are encouraged to work with a full time member of the Economics and/or Counseling faculty in planning their selection of courses at the College of DuPage.

Additional Resources:

<http://www.aeaweb.org/students/index.php>

American Economics Association's Economics for College Students

<http://www.bls.gov/ooh/life-physical-and-social-science/economists.htm>

Occupational Handbook for Economists from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics

Check out the home page of the Department of Economics at several four-year institutions. These sites provide valuable information for Economics majors, regardless of the transfer institution. Among the information provided on many of these sites are career resources in the field of Economics.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Michigan Department of Economics TEL: (734)764-2355

econ-ug@umich.edu contact for undergraduate general advising questions

<http://www.lsa.umich.edu/econ> Department of Economics home page

<http://www.lsa.umich.edu/econ/undergraduatestudy> Department of Economics
undergraduate studies home page

Contact undergraduate studies for required freshman/sophomore level courses earned at COD accepted for transfer.

Students planning to pursue an advanced degree in Economics are encouraged to seek advisement from a full time member of the Economics faculty in selecting mathematics courses

This information serves as a guide for the selection of courses at COD for a student transferring with a major in Economics to a four-year college or university. Students are responsible for contacting the transfer institution to verify requirements and transfer of courses. Students are encouraged to work with a full time member of the Economics and/or Counseling faculty in planning their selection of courses at the College of DuPage.

Additional Resources:

<http://www.aeaweb.org/students/index.php>

American Economics Association's Economics for College Students

<http://www.bls.gov/ooh/life-physical-and-social-science/economists.htm>

Occupational Handbook for Economists from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics

Check out the home page of the Department of Economics at several four-year institutions. These sites provide valuable information for Economics majors, regardless of the transfer institution. Among the information provided on many of these sites are career resources in the field of Economics.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

Madison, Wisconsin Undergraduate Office Contact: (608) 262-6925
econadvise@ssc.wisc.edu

<http://www.econ.wisc.edu/> Department of Economics home page

<http://www.econ.wisc.edu/undergrad/> Department of Economics undergraduate studies home page

University of Wisconsin

ECON 101: Principles of Microeconomics

ECON 102: Principles of Macroeconomics

One Semester of Calculus: recommended
MATH 221: Calculus and Analytical Geometry I

ECON 310: Statistics

College of DuPage

ECONO 2202: Microeconomics
and the Global Economy

ECONO 2201: Macroeconomics
and the Global Economy

MATH 2231: Calculus and Analytical Geometry I

Check with department what should be taken at COD to prepare for
ECON 310

Students planning to pursue an advanced degree in Economics are encouraged to seek advisement from a full time member of the Economics faculty in selecting mathematics courses

This information serves as a guide for the selection of courses at COD for a student transferring with a major in Economics to a four-year college or university. Students are responsible for contacting the transfer institution to verify requirements and transfer of courses. Students are encouraged to work with a full time member of the Economics and/or Counseling faculty in planning their selection of courses at the College of DuPage.

(OVER)

Additional Resources:

<http://www.aeaweb.org/students/index.php>

American Economics Association's Economics for College Students

<http://www.bls.gov/ooh/life-physical-and-social-science/economists.htm>

Occupational Handbook for Economists from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics

Check out the home page of the Department of Economics at several four-year institutions. These sites provide valuable information for Economics majors, regardless of the transfer institution. Among the information provided on many of these sites are career resources in the field of Economics.